ALL ARE TO BE HEARD

Carload of the Combustible Blows
Up, Killing Several Persons and Injuring Many and Destroying the Town.

Secretary Taft of the Opinion That

Knoxville, Sept. 21.—A car loaded with dynamite exploded in the Louisville and Nashville railway yards about 300 feet from the depot, says a special from Jellico, Tenn., to the Sentinel. The disaster happened at 8 o'clock this morning.

At least seven lives were lost and about fifty persons injured. The town is practically destroyed. Property damage is fully $1,000,000. At least 500 persons are homeless. Among the dead are George Atkins, aged thirty, a lineman; John Cook, aged fifty, a car inspector of the Southern railroad; Walter Rodgers, aged twenty-eight, a clerk in the United cold storage warehouse, cut to pieces and unrecognizable, and John Gordon, a negro. Five other bodies have been found, but are so badly disfigured as to be beyond recognition. Without exception every business house in the town was either totally wrecked or badly damaged. The union depot of the Southern railway and Louisville and Nashville railroad was shattered to splinters.

The explosion occurred on the Kentucky side of Jellico, and in consequence every house on that side is wrecked. Not one was spared. A large number of residences were located near the railroad on the Kentucky side, and these, without an exception, were demolished. Residences one mile from the scene were damaged, glass being shattered in windows, and in some instances chimneys were knocked down.

The car was consigned to the Rand Powder company and arrived in the morning.

A number of physicians from Knoxville and other points went to the scene.

The site of the explosion is marked by a hole twenty feet deep and about thirty feet in diameter.

The Tennessee side of Jellico escaped.

The calamity is the most terrible known in this section save the Frater-ville mine disaster in 1902.

The joint agent of the Louisville and Nashville and Southern railways at Jellico forwarded the following report of the explosion: "Pennsylvania railroad car contained 450 boxes of high explosives consigned to the Rand Powder company at Clearfield, Tenn., discharged early Friday morning. From the best evidence we can get three parties were shooting at a mark on the car and a bullet struck some dynamite, causing the explosion."

"The Southern railway is intact, but it will take some time and a large force to clear the Louisville and Nashville line north of the station. The town needs outside help, as many people on the Kentucky side are practically homeless."

TERRIBLE BLAZE.

Over One Hundred Horses Cremated
and Property Burned Considerable.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 21.—Fire, burned with terrific rapidity, destroyed property valued approximately at $150,000. As a result one woman is believed to have lost her life, while two men are unaccounted for. The property burned includes the Tacoma Eastern railroad depot and freight warehouse and four freight cars, the Puyallup avenue bridge, a large livery stable, a saloon, restaurant and three dwelling houses. In the livery stable were over 150 horses, many of them blooded stock. Less than half a dozen escaped. The woman believed to have lost her life is Mrs. Peterson, wife of the restaurant keeper.

FIVE FATALITIES.

Foreman on Right of Way Had an Arm
Torn Off.

Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—Five persons were killed and six injured in a dynamite explosion on the right of way of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway near Finmark, New Ontario. Foreman Hilton had an arm torn off. At the time of the explosion a gang of Finlanders were engaged in tunneling when the premature explosion of a large quantity of dynamite occurred.

SHIPPED TO JAPAN.

First of Consignment of Five Thousand Bales Has Been Sent.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 21.—The first consignment of this year's cotton from Oklahoma has been started for Japan. The consignment includes 5,000 bales and will be delivered as soon as the crop is picked. Several Japan cotton buyers have been in Oklahoma for the past two months getting consignments for their houses in the orient.

Havana, Sept. 21.—A second conference has not resulted in any advance toward bringing about a settlement between the Moderates and Liberals. Secretary Taft says that he believes that when the Cubans are brought face to face with the danger of forever losing independence all patriots will be willing to make concessions.

Mr. Taft has made it clear that the United States is not seeking to exercise control over the island or any of its affairs, but he has quoted President Roosevelt's letter to Minister Quesada to the effect that he United States has a duty which it cannot shirk. To those whom he has met in conference Mr. Taft has said that now is the time to decide whether they would have Cuba live as a nation. He weighed every word carefully, and has neither upheld nor criticized the principles of either faction.

Mr. Taft added that the United States peace emissaries are occupying a most delicate position, and have undertaken to hear all complaints, and that until they have made themselves thoroughly conversant with the political turmoil of Cuba they cannot express themselves freely in the conference, fearing that possible misunderstandings may have a deterrent effect on the proceedings.

Whether the men they have met in Havana represent the sentiment of the entire island is a question that is troubling the American mediators. There is some fear that even if the entanglement is straightened out here, the opposing forces in Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio provinces, and even in Santiago will not be satisfied.

Mr. Taft realizes that unless the national spirit is aroused the commercial interests will have no confidence in any settlement that may be reached. On this point the mediators are confronted with their chief difficulty, for no way has been devised to obtain the sentiments of those in the field without treating with armed forces, which might be regarded as a recognition of the insurgents. Senator Alfredo Zayas is generally regarded as the official representative of the revolution, but he cannot claim that distinction in negotiating with Secretary Taft, as that would make him a revolutionist and terminate free intercourse with President Roosevelt's representatives.

One sentence from Senor Zayas' address, as president of the Liberal party, is attracting much attention as showing the relations between that party and the insurrection. Senor Zayas said: "The Liberal party is not the revolution, but the programme of the Liberal party."

Senor Zayas has been received by Messrs. Taft and Bacon at the home of Minister Morgan in Marianao more frequently than the other Cuban leaders.

Vice President Mendez Capote, Moderate spokesman, filed a brief declaring the Moderate position, and advancing certain propositions for settling the controversy. By Mr. Taft's order this brief was sealed and will not be taken up for consideration until it can be done in the argument of the opposing side.

Mayor Cardenas and a number of principal officers of Havana visited Messrs. Taft and Bacon Thursday and argued that it was the duty of the United States to support the recognized government. The mayor undertook to assist Secretary Taft to get in touch with the commercial interests, and under Mr. Taft's instructions, will instruct each of the several business guilds to name a representative to talk with the mediators confidentially. The business affairs of Cuba have suffered during the present brief conflict more severely, many people say, than throughout the ten years' war. Hardly a shipment has left Havana in the last ten days. Financial circles are hampered, and business men are awaiting with great anxiety to meet with Messrs. Taft and Bacon and urge some radical form of intervention or annexation.

Government officials say that their attitude has not changed, and deny that any of them intend resigning.

AT ATLANTA.

Four Hundred Citizens Attend "Democratic Dollar Dinner."

Atlanta, Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan were Atlanta's guests Thursday. After a private interview with Hon. Hoke Smith, Democratic nominee for governor, Mr. Bryan attended a general reception.

The principal event was the address by Mr. Bryan in the evening at a "Democratic dollar dinner," attended by 400 citizens. Mrs. Bryan was the guest of the ladies of Atlanta at several functions more formal. The party left Friday for Birmingham. Mr. Bryan began his address in the afternoon, after an introduction by President Lamar Hill of the Young Men's Democratic league and Judge Reuben Arnold, both of whom referred to Mr. Bryan as the next president. He wished he could enter into the appreciation of the prophecies with which he had been introduced, but the experience of past years, he said, took something of the warmth out of such appreciation.

Prophecy, he declared, is half wish and half environment. He was not sure but that he would be happier as a private citizen than as an office holder, but he did not purpose to await election to do his best for Democracy. Georgia Democracy, he declared, was so pure and so sure that he felt it almost wasting time to try to strengthen it. Democracy is having such rapid growth even Republicans appreciate this, and find it not only respectable, but popular.

He took up Secretary Shaw's recent southern speeches on the tariff and discussed them. He reviewed the last ten years of Republican administration, declaring them to have been of unparalleled prosperity. The bounty of God had brought circumstances for which Republicans had claimed the credit.

The independence of the Philippines, Mr. Bryan said, had been impressed on him by his recent travels, as most desirable and wise. The fitness of the islanders for self-government had already been indicated, and needed only the opportunity to have full demonstration.

"In my travels," he concluded, "I have found the world friendly to the United States because our philanthropy has overflowed all its waste places. I have come back more convinced than ever that the mission of this country is to make its flag not feared, but loved by all nations. We have the most beautiful flag in the world, and I want to see it unfurled in the highest places. By its side I want to see the flag of that party which stands for equal rights to all men, with special privileges for none."

MATINEE MARRIAGE.

Members of Theatrical Company Wedded in Opera House.

Dallas, Sept. 21.—Just after the matinee performance Thursday afternoon at the opera house Joseph Hart and Miss Jeanne Ferode, members of "His Highness, the Bey" company, were made man and wife. Rev. M. Benson, an Episcopal clergyman, officiating. The audience remained, at the invitation of the manager.

When Rev. Benson had concluded the ceremony, the groom, observing stage traditions, implanted a kiss upon the lips of his bride, but with such fervor as to dismiss the imputation that it was a stage kiss. Then the couple held an impromptu levee and received the congratulations of the company, while the audience in the theater applauded.

Mr. Hart, whose home is in Clinton, Ia., has been with the company two years. Mrs. Hart lives with her mother in Chicago. She, also, has been with the present company about two years, and was filling a theatrical engagement when she met the man who was to become her husband. The couple will continue with "His Highness, the Bey" until the end of the season.

CONFIDENCE MAN BEATEN AT HIS OWN GAME.

Simple Scheme Evolved in the Keen Brain of Rufus Choate Resulted in Cattle Dealer Recovering His Money.

When Rufus Choate was practicing law in Boston, before he had gained national reputation, he showed his keenness in numerous small cases, one instance of which will illustrate his genius.

A cattle dealer coming to Brighton to attend the regular weekly cattle sale on the following day, having several hundred dollars in currency with which he intended to buy stock, gave $100 of this sum to the landlord of a road house at which he stopped, to put in the safe for him over night. The next morning when he called for the money, he was told that while he was an intoxicated condition the previous night he had asked for the money, and it had been given to him.

The countryman was dumfounded, for he was not a heavy drinker, and as perfectly sober when he retired the night before; but, protest as he would, the landlord stuck to his story, and showed the empty cash box as evidence.

In the emergency some one advised the dealer to consult Choate. He went to Choate's office and explained the case.

As soon as he had concluded, Choate said: "Take a friend along as a witness, and see the landlord, and tell him you are satisfied that you got the money, and get him to take another hundred for safe keeping, and then come back here."

The dealer did as he was told, and the landlord accepted the other hundred. When he had reported, Choate said: "Now, go back alone and ask for the last deposit when no one is present." The landlord handed over the money promptly and the dealer retired as before. Choate said: "Now take the friend who saw you deposit the last hundred and demand your money."

When confronted by the witness who asked for the money which he had seen him take, the landlord was very indignant and insisted that he had returned it; but the dealer stoutly denied this. When the landlord discovered who had the case he reluctantly gave up the second hundred.

A Little Son Cast Reflection into Eyes of Infuriated Bull.

Representative Timothy E. Townsend, a prominent union republican member of the Delaware legislature, owes his life to the action of his 12-year-old son Fred in casting the reflection of a bright milk pail into the eyes of an infuriated bull that attacked and mired him. Mr. Townsend is a farmer and cattle dealer at Frankfort, Sussex county, and was on his farm that the affair occurred.

The legislator was being trampled when his little son saw his peril. The boy seized the milk pail, the only thing handy, and rushed to his father's rescue. As the sun was shining brightly, the pail proved more effective than a gun or pitchfork. The reflection made it look to the bull as if a ball of fire. Young Townsend, realizing this and with rare presence of mind, turned the reflection into the eyes of the bovine. The animal immediately became terror-stricken and actually ran from the inclosure. Townsend will recover.

A Spider That Fishes.

Professor Berg, in Buenos Ayres, has discovered a spider which practices fishing at times. In shallow waters it spins between stones a two-winged, conical net, on which it runs the water and captures small fish, hoppers, etc. That it understands its work well is shown by the numerous fished skins of little creatures that are about in the web net.

Vegetable Boa-Constrictor.

The "vegetable boa-constrictor" is a queer representative of the genus cecilia, which is grown in India for medicinal purposes, the vines being lined over trellises and verandahs. The fruit of this green vine is, both in shape and color, the exact counterpart of the snake from which it takes its name.

CHERRY TREE ON CHIMNEY.

Remarkable Freak of Nature in Massachusetts Town.

One of the freaks of nature in Indian Orchard, Mass., is a cherry tree growing on top of an 80-foot chimney. It is a thriving tree, standing ten feet above the cap of the chimney, and it has grown rapidly despite fierce winds which have bent it almost double on its lofty perch. Every spring it blossoms, and later comes the fruit, to the delight of the bird colonies of the neighborhood. They have come to regard it as their especial tree, growing for their benefit alone, and certainly no human being wants the cherries badly enough to scale the chimney for them.

The chimney is a little weather beaten at the top, the cap stones broken away and many of the bricks knocked out by the ravages of the weather. Little by little the wind has brought grains of sand and soil there, and filled in all these little niches and holes, until a small aerial garden is flourishing all around the rim. Grass and flowers are growing there in several varieties, and can readily be distinguished with field glasses. But the most remarkable thing about this lofty garden is the cherry tree. It is probable that some bird is responsible for it, dropping a cherry stone there while eating the fruit on the top of the chimney. The stone lodged in one of the dirt filled niches, where it sprouted. It is a puzzle, however, how the roots of the tree have found room to spread so as to allow it to grow to a height of ten feet.

USE GIANT ELECTRIC LIFT.

Science Does Away with Necessity for Climbing Steep Hills.

Facility of locomotion is a watchword of the times, and what with electric trains and tramways and other motor vehicles, engineers are seeking to it that we get about as easily as possible. Hills, of course, are a chief obstacle in the way of mechanical traction of all kinds.

For cities and towns that are wholly or in part built upon high hills the giant electric lift, which we depict, is now being made use of. As will be readily understood, the passengers enter the car of the lift from the lift station, and are at once taken up perpendicularly to the height of the eminence to be gained. Along a light bridge the car then travels to the higher parts of the town, where the hill ascended without, as it were, any climbing, the passengers alight.

Stockholm, the principal streets of which are built on rising ground, has one of these giant lifts in operation.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Forgetfulness Spoiled Life.

A tragic history has just come to light in Paris by the discovery of a letter which was never mailed. If it had been, a bachelor would have been saved from a lonely life. Twenty years ago, at a ball, a young man met a young woman and fell straightway in love with her. Though the young woman's looks signified that the passion was mutual, the young man had not the courage to declare himself, but went home and wrote a letter instead. Days passed; no answer came. The young man despaired, grew disgusted with life, and thenceforth lived a sad, solitary life. Late in life he died, a bachelor still. His heirs went through his papers, and there among them was the famous love letter. He had forgotten to mail it.

The Women Men Like Best.

"I have been studying typists," said a pretty girl, "trying to discover what kind of a woman a man likes."

"I want to be a popular girl, and I want to be a likable girl. And so I've taken up the study. What kind of a woman does a man like? That has been my text book."

"Thus far, judging right up to date, I would say that men like quiet women. They do not like chatty girls. They prefer to do the chatting for themselves. Wherever you see a quiet little puss in a corner you may be sure some man will find her out and talk to her. She has a perfect faculty for gathering the men around her."

"I should say, also, that men like a plump woman. There are men who prefer lean women, but it is only under compulsion."

"Men like bright, sweet, sentimental girls. They like girls who can sit out on the piazza railing and look at the stars. They don't want girls who fall in love with them or say sweet nothings. They can do that for themselves. But they do like girls of sentiment; they like girls who can appreciate a good thing and who like to be talked to and raved over."

"The man of to-day likes a healthy girl. He likes a well girl; he likes a girl with no ailments. There is no place for the sickly beauty in the love world of to-day."

"A man likes a girl who has tact. Tact is a wonderful thing. The girl who has tact is one who never treads upon one's corns, mentally speaking. She never mentions wrong subjects, and she doesn't ask you how old you are or questions you about your past."

"About physical peculiarities, the man of the season had real and very decided tastes. He likes the girl with a good complexion. No girl with a bad skin need apply. And none but she and her lavender chest can tell how she accomplishes it."

"The man of the season likes a girl with nice teeth. There is something very inviting about a row of pearls. The lips may not be correctly shaped, yet, if the teeth are white and even and fragrant, one can forgive a great deal. The mouth looks so sweet and captious."

"The man of the season likes a girl with a little waist. Say what you please about health and hygiene, preach till you're dead about physical culture and nature's true shape, the fact remains that a trim little waist is pretty."

"Men like girls who do not cry and who never get tired. It is distressing to take a girl upon a yachting cruise unless she can stand the gaff—so to speak. If she sobs in a squall and gets tired dodging the waves then she is no yachting girl for any man."

"Men like rich girls. There is no doubt about it. 'I like a rich girl,' said a man, 'because she is so comfortable in her ways. The poor girl has an anxious manner. But the rich girl, with half a million back of her, is comfortable. She feels at ease about her future. If more poor girls knew this it would be better for them. It isn't so much the money as it is the manner. Money gives manner.'"

"Men like girls who have nice feet. Men cast their eyes downward at an early stage of the game, and they know a thing or two about she leather. The girl with lumpy, bumpy shoes seldom has a beau. The girl with the flat instep never has one. The girl who wears big, ugly shoes and whose laces are dull and gray is never troubled with sweethearts. And the girl whose shoes do not match her gown has very little chance this season."

"Men like a girl who can sit and do nothing. There has been too much of the ambitious female. They like a girl who can sit and think of nothing at all. They like the girl who is sweet and quiet, idle and amiable. They can do all the rest for themselves. Of course, there are other things that men like, but these are the principal ones."

Newest Novelties in Fashionable Footwear.

Some Exceeding Clever and Pretty Ideas Are to Be Found in the Stores.

Embroidered white linen shoes which match or nearly match the gown are the latest pretty extravagance of fashion. Chic and novel, the embroidered linen has taken the fancy of the "linen girl," until the Paris shoemaker who imports them has been promising to fill orders in shades of gray, tan, mauve, and pink and dark colors. These shoes have the modified French heel, which is broad compared to the Louis Quinze, and still sufficiently high for appearances. Glace kid shoes in red, violet, ruby, and champagne are coming in the empire shape, with a single strap and large buckle. Black glace kid in the same shape is most chic and popular when finished with a large silver or steel buckle, so that there never was time so opportune for getting out an old pair of heirloom buckles.

White and gray antelope is a dull finished kid which is taking the place of canvas in many of the better shapes. Colored undressed kid and black in the same soft finish are coming again in sandal shape with several straps to be laced with ribbons to match. These, it is pointed out by the shoe man, give the foot a slimmer and daintier appearance than it possesses by nature. Both black and colored, one finished with a circular ornament of dull jet.

Evening shoes of regal splendor come in brocade tissue of both gold and silver, and grosgrain silk is the material of a ballroom slipper. There is a yachting or deck shoe which comes without heels.

To Take the Proper Care of the Piano.

Some Very Simple Precautions That Will Add to the Life of the Instrument.

A pianoforte is peculiarly susceptible to atmospheric changes, and is quickly affected by damp or draught. For this reason an upright pianoforte should never be put against an outer wall, or one recently built, or be permitted to block a doorway. If an inner wall be not available the instrument should be placed at an angle to the wall, so as to jut partly out into the room, a position which has many advantages, notably in singing. The presence of damp is generally first noticeable by the notes continuing to sound after the fingers have been lifted from the keys, or by a general buzz when the instrument is played. Later the keys will stick down, or return slowly instead of quickly to their normal positions. When this happens the action should be lifted out and laid in front of a fire for several hours. Afterward benzine should be worked into the centers of the hammer shanks and movable parts; but this must be done away from the fire and in daylight, as benzine is highly inflammable. The action is easily lifted out, being only kept in place by buttons on either side, but care is necessary to clear the pedal rods. A pianoforte standing in a room in which a fire is rarely lighted should be covered with a blanket and flannel should be laid along the keys to prevent them becoming yellow.

The first cast-iron bridge in the world was the Coalbrookdale bridge, England, which was built in 1779.

Interesting Gossip Gathered in New York—War On Between Mrs. Leslie Carter Payne and Miss Norma Munro—Lillian Russell to Enter Horse Racing Game.

NEW YORK.—The controversy between Mrs. Leslie Carter Payne, the actress, and Miss Norma Leslie Munro, the reputedly wealthy daughter of the late millionaire publisher, Norman Leslie Munro, continues to excite interest among the dilettante friends of these two women who have furnished more space, continuously, for the newspapers than probably any two other women in New York. Unquestionably there is a sentiment favorable to the actress' side of the question, for, while the emotional Mrs. Carter Payne is not intensely popular, the people who have been acquainted with the career of the two women in the present controversy are also conversant with the recent allegations made against Miss Munro by Mrs. Robert Osborn of playhouse and shirt-waist fame. Mrs. Osborn's experience with Miss Munro was so identical with that which Mrs. Carter Payne is experiencing that their mutual friends and that section of the public which has hung agape upon the published accounts of the quixotical lives these people lead are beginning to wonder if, after all, the strenuous Miss Munro is not a "hoodoo."

No room for doubt remains that Mrs. Carter Payne and her recent "dearest friend" are at daggers' points. Further sensational developments are promised when Miss Munro returns from Bar Harbor and Mrs. Carter Payne from Shelter Island to their apartments adjoining each other in the building owned by the Munro estate.

FRIENDSHIP BROKEN BY MARRIAGE.

It has been known ever since Mrs. Carter's romantic marriage to the young actor, William Louis Payne, that the alliance was bitterly resented by the exacting Miss Munro. That the two women, once like Juno's swans, "together always and inseparable," had separated has been known, too, for weeks to their mutual friends, but no one was prepared for the shock which followed the court action against the actress, brought in the name of Miss Munro's mother, who is executrix of the Munro estate.

This came like a bolt of lightning from a comparatively clear sky. Mrs. Leslie Carter Payne, in arrears for rent of her apartments on West Fifty-ninth street, owned by Miss Munro's mother, has been sued for back rent and served with papers in dispossess proceedings. Furthermore, the only thing that saved Mrs. Payne from ignominious ejection was the haste with which she paid up.

Mrs. Henriette E. Munro's claim against the actress was for $1,593.52, the sum of Mrs. Payne's alleged indebtedness for five months as a tenant of the West Fifty-ninth street apartments.

When papers in the suit brought to secure this claim were served upon the actress there was an impromptu scene of emotionalism worthy the highest creative art of a Belasco. Mrs. Leslie Carter Payne fell into the arms of her youthful husband and shrieked her denunciations of Miss Munro. When sufficient strength returned Mrs. Payne hurried downtown in her automobile to the offices of her counsel, Edward Lauterbach. The lawyer was equal to the emergency, and within two hours the Munro proceedings had been dropped. Mrs. Carter Payne had settled, but she did not pay the full demand—only $825—insisting that she owed only three months' rent and defying the Munros to prove another penny against her. Lawyer Henry Bogert Clark, representing Mrs. Munro, thought hard for half an hour, then accepted the proffered compromise and dropped the legal proceedings.

As the case now stands Mrs. Carter Payne is free to remain in possession for the time being. But the matter will not rest here. Friends of both women agree that this clash is but the bugle call to battle; that Mrs. Carter Payne will speedily proceed to even up matters with Miss Norma, and that the latter will retaliate with a bomb loaded with secrets destined to scandalize white light circles.

RUSSELL AS RIVAL TO LANGTRY.

Speaking of an actress brings to mind the fact that Lillian Russell has decided to seek honors on the turf this fall. The favorite comedienne will not desert the footlights but she has been imbued with the racing fever and has decided to try her hand at the game. Lillian's colors will be carried by horses bred by herself in England.

When Miss Russell went abroad more than a year ago she expected to stay in Europe for two or three years at least, and it was then that she concluded to become a rival of Mrs. Langtry for racing honors in England. She wanted to race horses of her own breeding and John S. McDonald was commissioned to buy a number of high-bred mares.

The purchases were made early last year and a majority of the mares now have foals, there being three colts by Carbine in the lot. The entire list of mares and foals will be shipped to this country this autumn, probably in October. The mares will be sent to a farm, probably to Kentucky, while the foals will be reserved for racing year after next unless there is another change of plans in the meantime.

ATHLETES ARE POOR HUSBANDS.

Science has come forward with a new and striking statement, joining a fresh link to the chain of indictments against athletics carried to an immoderate degree. Once beyond the bounds of moderation, physical exercise and physical training, so this new statement says, not only weaken the heart for a lifetime, predispose to pneumonia, cause pulmonary tuberculosis, and make extra possible a dozen other ills, but they unfit a man for a husband.

"It will be found," says Dr. Robert E. Coughlin, of Brooklyn, in a series of papers he has written on the use and abuse of athletics and the deaths of athletes, "that comparatively few athletes marry. Of those that do, a small percentage have children, and a very large percentage are divorced by their wives."

Dr. Coughlin has been collecting statistics and following the careers of athletes for years. "In regard to the benefit derived from athletics," he says, "one has only to remember the physiology of exercise to become convinced of the fact that exercise, per se, may be very beneficial. The point to bear in mind is to advise the person to stop before fatigue becomes evident. We can do this readily when the athlete is interested in games for the mere exercise, but such advice cannot be offered when his aim is to excel in an athletic contest. Here is where athletics do great harm, and it would be a safe rule to advise against all forms of athletics in the nature of a contest. Athletics may be said to be beneficial until the heart begins to be markedly enlarged; this is the danger signal."

WEDDING MAY FOLLOW DIVORCE.

With the announcement that Mrs. Annie M. A. Stewart had obtained a divorce in Sioux Falls from William Rhineland Stewart it became current gossip at once that Mrs. Stewart would soon be the wife of James Henry Smith, known as "Silent Smith," whose fortune is estimated anywhere from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The divorce decree gives Mrs. Stewart the custody of her daughter, Anita, until the latter becomes of age. William Rhineland Stewart, Jr., is given into the custody of the father.

The troubles between the Stewarts reached an acute stage some time after Miss Anita Stewart made her debut at a dinner dance given by the husband and wife in their town home on West Fifty-seventh street in January, 1905. This was the last social function given by the couple.

Mr. Stewart, who is a man of 54, is now at Bar Harbor. He is studious and serious, and he has never cared much for the frivolous side of life. Society to him was a bore, and he figured little in the entertainments where his wife was always prominent.

When Mr. Smith purchased the old William C. Whitney mansion at Fifth avenue and Sixty-seventh street and began to play a prominent part in the goings of the "Four Hundred," Mrs. Stewart aided him in the many costly entertainments he gave. She managed his dinners and dances, and just prior to the final separation of the Stewarts the millionaire bachelor and Mrs. Stewart were often together.

The fact that not a single restriction is placed on either husband or wife places them both in position to marry again if they so choose. There was no mention of alimony in the decree, and here it is believed that a money settlement was effected before the suit for divorce was brought. Mrs. Stewart charged desertion in her suit, and it was not opposed.

BY CARNES & WALLACE.

BRYAN, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 22

The Attorney General has landed on the Water Pierces Oil Co. with a suit to cancel permit, for penalties exceeding $5,000,000.

The supreme court has declined to consider application for mandamus of the reorganized republican party in vacation, and the reorganizers will have to wait until October.

County Clerk Kemp of Milam county is credited by the Houston Post with the following statement regarding the congressional mud-dle as it relates to the printing of the official ballot: Mr. Kemp said that he was going to act in conformity to the law so far as he understood it; that he would wait until the last moment in order that each one might have a fair chance, but when the last moment came, if nothing had been done to change the present standing of the case, that he would not place either Hardy or Mays on the ticket; that he would obey Judge Scott's injunction literally and would not assume that Judge Rufus Hardy was the nominee. He says he has no favorite in the matter, but would obey the law.

Dr. J. M. Carroll has been elected president of a new Baptist school to be established at San Marcos.

The general forward movement in Texas and the notable activities of our own people suggest that Bryan should have a Ten Thousand Club. Not to be considered unduly enthusiastic, we will say that Bryan should be satisfied with nothing short of this in the next ten years, and if it can be accomplished sooner, all the better. It is never too early to begin. The club should enroll every citizen of the town and charge each one with the duty of speaking a good word for the town and county at home and abroad. Advertising matter should be issued from time to time for general distribution, and no stone left unturned to interest home and investment seekers, and especially those having children to educate.

The Scientific American gives this recipe for a cheap and durable paint for farm buildings: Stir into a gallon of milk about three pounds of Portland cement, and add sufficient Venetian red, or any other colored paint powder, to give a good color. The milk will hold the powder in solution, but the cement being heavy, will sink to the bottom. So it is necessary to keep the mixture well stirred with a paddle while applying it; and, as its efficiency depends upon administering a good coating of cement, it is not safe to trust its application to untrustworthy hands. Six hours after applying, this paint will be as immovable and unaffected by water as a month-old paint. We have known of buildings twenty years old in which the wood is well preserved by it.

THE MONTH OF TISHRI.

The Jewish year 5667 has been welcomed by faithful Jews the world over, and a cycle of solemn festivity begun which will last with slight interruption for a whole month. The month of Tishri is given over by the Jews almost completely to ceremonials connected with the synagogue. The first day of the month is New Year, and there is scarcely a spot on the civilized globe where ten adults can be found at which public service was not held.

New Year's Day is looked upon by the Jews with peculiar veneration, and the method of observance is very unlike that of their Christian neighbors. It is a day given up to prayer and the ritual of the synagogue, and on this occasion is the most solemn character. This festival is known by several names; first, as the Day of Memorial; a day, that is to say, in which the Jew is exhorted to call to memory his deeds during the past year with a view of amendment in the days that are to come. It is also known as the Day of Judgment. Jewish allegory pictures God on that day as sitting in judgment on all His human creatures. The great books are opened, in which are recorded all the signatures of the children of men, and all human souls pass by in review before the Creator as sheep before the shepherd. God then passes judgment on each according to his merits, waiting, however, until the Day of Atonement, ten days later, before passing His final verdict.

This thought is well expressed in a well-known passage of the liturgy, which runs as follows: "On the New Year's Day it is written, and on the Day of Atonement it is sealed; who are to pass away, and who are to be created; who to live and who to die; who by heat and who by cold; who by fire and who by water; who by the sword and who by famine; who by tempest and who by the plague; who are to become poor and who are to become rich; who are to be humbled and who exalted, but repentance, prayer and charity avert the evil decree."

The last name by which the Jewish New Year is known is "The Day of Blowing the Trumpet," a cornet made of ram's horn's being blown in the synagogue during the service. The symbolism of the cornet is, of course, the trumpet call to the Israelite to repentance.

Following the New Year the ten days of penitence. In the orthodox synagogue service is held every morning, propitiatory prayers are said and the "shofar" is likewise blown. As a climax to the "Ten Days of Penitence" comes the great "Day of Atonement"—a marked contrast to the solemnity of the ten days that have preceded it; then follows the joyous "Feast of Tabernacles," many pious Israelites going so far as to erect their own booths in literal fulfillment of the Biblical precept.—Navasota Examiner.

Agua, Callentes, Mex., Sept. 20.—Ralph Church of the smelter here, who has been missing for some time, has returned. His only explanation of his long absence was that he had gone to the United States for a visit. At the time of his disappearance from the City of Mexico he had on his person $20,000 in gold, and full play was feared. Church is from Channing, Tex.

THE NEW VISIBLE

At Last a Perfect Visible Typewriter

The One Typewriter That Correctly Solves the Objections That Have Always Heretofore Been Made Against "Front Strike" Machines.

Visible writing has always been considered as desirable by practically all typewriter manufacturers, but the difficulties to be overcome in construction in order to secure durability have discouraged the very large adoption of these machines. The invention of the method of assembling the type bars as it is done in the Fox Visible has, however, made possible the use of a wide pivot bearing in the type hanger, thus insuring the most perfect alignment at all times and a durability that is equal to that claimed for any "basket type" machine. In building this new model, we have all the advantage of the knowledge that we have gained in building and placing the regular Fox models on the market and we are able to avoid all those experiments found in new machines which are so expensive to the purchaser.

THE TYPE HANGER—The hanger has a pivot bearing 7-16 of an inch wide. This allows the use of a heavy type bar, providing an adjustable pivot bearing which takes up wear as it occurs, thereby giving a permanent alignment that is impossible to secure with a narrow bearing without adjustment, and avoiding the trouble caused where "forced alignment" is necessary. This is the feature that has heretofore been considered as being impossible to secure in a visible writing typewriter. It is found only in the Fox and places the Fox Visible in a class by itself.

TWO COLOR RIBBON—The ribbon movement on this machine is simply perfection. It reverses and oscillates automatically, requiring no attention from the operator from the time it is put on until worn out. When a two color ribbon is used, by simply touching a button on the keyboard the second color is secured instantly without raising the hand or even looking.

THE INTERCHANGEABLE CARRIAGE—The carriage is so constructed that it can be quickly removed and a carriage of different length substituted. One machine can be purchased with different sizes of carriages, thereby effecting a great saving over the ordinary method of buying a long carriage machine complete. The carriage is ball bearing and runs with a tension of only 1 lb.

PERFECT VISIBLE WRITING—The entire line is visible all the time.

THE KEY TENSION—The force required on the part of the operator to print a letter is only 2½ ounces. This is from 25 to 50 per cent. less than any other. It is a vital thing both from the operator's standpoint of less fatigue and the owner's of greater durability.

THE LINE LOCK—When the carriage reaches the end of a line, the keys lock and nothing more can be written until the release button is used or the carriage returned to begin a new line.

ALUMINUM KEY LEVERS—Key levers are made of aluminum. It is more expensive than steel or wood, but it is very much more desirable.

TABULATOR—The Fox ten stop decimal tabulator is attached when ordered, at slight additional expense. It is the only decimal tabulator in use on a visible typewriter.

Every feature on this machine has been tried out and demonstrated as successful on the Regular Models of the Fox. Unprejudiced experts have without hesitation pronounced the machine a marvel.

Ask your nearest typewriter dealer to show you this machine. If he cannot we will make it easy for you.

The regular models of the Fox are still the most perfect machines of their kind and their manufacture will be continued as before.

It is charged by Circuit Attorney Sager that Ritter attempted to extort money from R. M. Snyder of Kansas City by threatening to testify that Snyder gave him boodle money to distribute when the Central Traction railway bill franchise was voted upon. The cases against Snyder were dismissed Tuesday.

Eugene Sweeney, who was identified with the Central Traction railway deal as a promoter, was also arrested and placed in jail. They will be held pending inquiry into the case. Sweeney made a statement to Circuit Attorney Sager concerning the attempted blackmail charge against W. H. Ritter, in which he declared Ritter had told him that he (Ritter) had spent $15,000 in keeping out of the way of the courts in order to avoid testifying in the Snyder bribery case, and thought he should be "reimbursed," as he said others had been, for service to Snyder.

One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and Croup.

Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure and gave her three doses half an hour apart. Despite Official Assurance, a Number Were Fired On.

Odessa, Sept. 21.—The governor general and the prefect of Odessa have assured the chief rabbi here that they will not permit disorders, and that attempts to bring about an anti-Jewish attack will be quelled without mercy. In spite of official assurances that no anti-Jewish attacks would be permitted, a gang composed of the members of the "Union of Russian People" tried to provoke an anti-Jewish outbreak Thursday by firing on a crowd of Jews. They were met with fierce resistance and dispersed.

VOLIVA'S ELECTION.

Federal Judge Landis Says It Was Legitimate.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Judge Landis, in the Federal court, declared that there were no irregularities in the election of Wilbur G. Voliva as general overseer of Zion church. The court declared that he will hereafter recognize Voliva as the head of the church, and directed that the receiver appointed by the court do likewise. The attorneys for Alfred E. Bills, the rival of Voliva in the election, admitted that Voliva has received at least 1,800 legal votes, while their client has received but 9. They insist on a contest, but the court declined to entertain their motion.

GOMPERS GRATIFIED.

Pleased With Order to Enforce the Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, Sept. 21.—"An impetus has been given to the labor movement in politics by President Roosevelt's order directing the rigid enforcement of the eight-hour law," declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. "We are much gratified that the president has issued the order, although we conceive it to be a little late." "The original request for the enforcement of the eight-hour law on government work was made by me nearly three years ago. During the intervening time I have repeatedly called the president's attention to continued violations of the law and cited specific instances, backed up by affidavits. On March 22, 1906, the president requested Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, to bring to his attention specific instances of violation of the law, which he would refer to Mr. Neill for investigation. This was done on April 21, with the result of the order requiring the enforcement of the law issued Thursday. It will certainly encourage labor to pursue the work of organization in the campaign which has been mapped out the hope that a larger degree of justice may be attained."

I is understood that under the settlement twenty-five nieces and nephews who were left each $25,000 under the will are to receive $50,000, while the minor heir, Edson T. Conrad of Watervliet, N. Y., will receive $12,500.

ELLIOTT DEAD.

Prominent Business Man and Capitalist Dies at Atlantic City.

Dallas, Sept. 21.—A. Graham Elliott, Jr., a resident of Dallas for several years and prominent in a large business enterprise, died Thursday in Atlantic City, N. J., at the summer cottage of his father-in-law, E. J. Lavino. Mr. Elliott had been ill for a short time before leaving Dallas on Sept. 7, and he suffered a relapse after arriving at his old home in Philadelphia on Sept. 11.

A Graham Elliott was born in Philadelphia thirty-five years ago. He came of a prominent family, well known in Pennsylvania for several generations. He received the best of educational advantages, and after his school days entered the wholesale paper business with his father and brothers. In the spring of 1902 Mr. Elliott came to Dallas and organized the A. G. Elliott Paper company, a wholesale concern which was one of the largest in the southwest. He was president of the firm and in 1905 when the A. G. Elliott company was absorbed by the Southwestern Paper company Mr. Elliott remained in the firm as vice president. Since April 11 Mr. Elliott has been district manager of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company, with headquarters in Dallas. He was a deacon in the East Dallas Presbyterian church and was a member of several Dallas social clubs.

Mr. Elliott leaves a widow and two small children—a boy and a girl.

PACKING HOUSES, TOO.

Socialist Candidate For Congress Favors Government Owning Them.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Fort Worth, Tex., says: Laura B. Payne of Fort Worth, in accepting the nomination on the Socialist ticket for congress in this district, comes out strongly for government ownership of railroads and goes a step further than Bryan in advocating government ownership of all packing houses.

Miss Payne is the first woman to run for congress in Texas, and says she will push her campaign vigorously. When asked what she would do if elected she replied:

"The first thing I would do would be to accuse the grafters in congress of their wrongdoings and arouse the public of the entire country to oust the rogues from the national legislature."

GIVEN BY GRUETT.

He is Said to Have Furnished Evidence Leading to the Suit.

Austin, Sept. 21.—It was learned that the state procured most of its facts in the Waters-Pierce Oil company anti-trust suit from Mr. Gruett, who was the cause of the sensational testimony given by Mr. Pierce at St. Louis. It has developed that Gruett was here a few days ago and furnished some facts which are incorporated in the suit. He was formerly employed by the company, and, according to a report, has furnished the attorney general with evidence against the Waters-Pierce concern and the Standard Oil company. Other employees of the Waters-Pierce company have not hesitated to furnish the state the benefit of valuable information in the prosecution of the suit.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Tom W. Perkins of McKinney Was Elected Presiding Officer.

Fort Worth, Sept. 21.—The Texas Mayors' association adjourned after a two days' session Friday. Friday morning was given over to a general discussion of municipal ownership in all phases, every delegate participating. Amarillo was selected for the next annual meeting place, to be held in August. The following officers were elected: Tom W. Perkins of McKinney, president; J. T. Lacey of Farmersville, secretary; John H. Bonner of Tyler, first vice president; Dr. W. G. Elliott, West, second vice president. Josbio Obligen, a Mexican, was mangled and probably fatally injured by falling between two cars of a work train, the wheels passing over part of his body. An arm was cut off, his head badly cut and a leg broken.

LUCKY PRISONER.

Pleaded Guilty, but Prosecutor Said He Could Not Convict Him.

Fort Worth, Sept. 21.—An unusual case of a prisoner wanting to plead guilty and instead given his freedom was presented in district court Friday. Edward Moore, confined in jail on a charge of stealing $68 from a local firm, requested to be allowed to enter a plea of guilty when brought into court. Judge Smith warned the prisoner that his plea meant three years in prison for him, but he still insisted despite the judge's remonstrances. County Attorney McClean, after a brief conference with Moore, announced if the trial occurred he would be unable to convict him, and Judge Smith at once declared him a free man. Moore was almost overcome with joy at the announcement.

ENCOUNTERS STORM.

Denver Had a Thrilling Experience and Is a Day Late.

Galveston, Sept. 21.—Advices received here from Key West are to the effect that the Mallory line steamer Denver, from New York for Galveston with a large passenger list, among whom are many prominent people from over the state returning from their vacations, encountered a terrible storm on the Atlantic coast. The report says the passengers came out all right and are well. The vessel sailed from Key West at 10 o'clock Thursday night and is expected here Sunday afternoon, more than a day late. Other ships reported very stormy weather was encountered off the Atlantic coast.
